

Po-Boy Pop Quiz

1. Which one of the following was never actually served as a Po-boy sandwich?
  - a) Frog Leg Loaf
  - b) Ketchup and Banana Loaf
  - c) Peanut Butter and Jelly Loaf
  - d) Mayonnaise and Banana Loaf
  - e) All were served at least once
2. The name of the restaurant in the 1970s and 1980s that attempted to turn the poor boy into a fast food chain was:
  - A) Starchy's
  - B) Frenchy's
  - C) Pierre's
  - D) Martin Brother's
  - E) Parkway Bakery
  - F) Krusty the Klown's
3. Before the name poor boy originated, most people called these French bread sandwiches:
  - a) Subs
  - b) Grinders
  - c) Loaves
  - d) Huey Boys
4. The bakery that invented the poor boy loaf was named:
  - a) Leidenheimer
  - b) Reising
  - c) Angelo Gendusa Bakery
  - d) John Gendusa Bakery
  - e) Schwegmann's
  - f) Mc Kenzies
  - g) Bunny Bread

5. True or False:
Someone once marketed a full-color poster of a Roach Beef Po-Boy.

6. True or False:
One restaurant once offered a peanut butter and jelly poor boy named the Jimmy Carter special

7. True or False:
Martin Brothers once served free lettuce and tomato sandwiches

8. True or False:
The first poor boy sandwich was a French Fry poor boy

9. The original location of Martin Brother's was:

- a) French Market
- b) St. Claude Avenue
- c) Chef Menteur Highway
- d) Baronne Street
- e) Chalmette

10. The first names of the Martin Brothers were:

- a) Abe and Shushan
- b) Bennie and Clovis
- c) Huey and Woody
- d) Huey and Dewey
- e) Anthony and A.J.

Bonus: The original names of the poor boy loaf were:

- a) the special and the long john
- b) extra-long and big-big
- c) gigot and cap loaf
- d) none of the above

To learn more about the history of the po-boy, including photos and videos go to www.poboyfest.com/history.

Answers:

1. All were served at least once, 2. Frenchy's, 3. Loaves, 4. John Gendusa Bakery, 5. True, 6. True, 7. True, 8. False, 9. French Market, 10. Bennie and Clovis
Bonus: the special and the long john

Close-up of 1932 poor boy
Courtesy of Martin Family